

Journal

Office of Legislative Counsel

Wednesday - 24 July 1957

- - - -

1. The Director talked to Senator Hayden on the phone and inquired as to whether the Senator wished to meet with him at any time during this Session. The Senator was not at all enthusiastic about a meeting, and seemed to take the view that inasmuch as we had our money, there wasn't any need to get together. The Director expressed a concern about the fact that we had had no meeting with the Appropriations Subcommittee this year, and mentioned the possible future implications of this fact if the joint committee matter comes up again. He then suggested the possibility of a get-together with Hayden and Saltonstall. Senator Hayden stated, however, that everyone was very busy at this time, and said that he would see the Director next Session.